

Classes For Dairymen To Begin Feb. 15

A farm "school" for local dairymen and their employees will begin here on Feb. 15, according to Ben Cluff, local chairman.

One of seven Southern California districts able to take advantage of the farm "schools," the local course will be given at the Gardena High School, 1315 Gardena Blvd., Gardena, on Feb. 15, 23, March 1 and 8. It is sponsored by Los Angeles City and County Health Department in cooperation of dairymen.

Three years ago, the school for the dairymen and milkers was first instituted by the Los Angeles City and County Health Departments. It was again held last year. Proven so successful, it was necessary this year to break up the districts into smaller areas throughout Southern California so that dairymen and their employees will be able to travel shorter distances to the classes.

Other districts in which the classes are held include Norwalk, El Monte, Cypress, Gardena, San Bernardino, Chino and Pierce. The courses will be given free of charge.

The employers also won amendments to the arbitration (no strike-no lockout) clause to strengthen and clarify this portion of the contract. The sick-leave clause also was clarified and strengthened, Selover said, and the contract was winning favorable reaction from employers throughout the area.

Capt. J. D. Alvis, retired Naval officer appointed Red Cross Chairman of Palos Verdes.

Father of Press Publisher To Head Drive

Capt. John D. Alvis, City Clerk of Palos Verdes, this week was appointed 1951 Red Cross fund chairman by Earle M. Jorgensen, overall campaign chairman of Los Angeles Red Cross. Official opening date of the Red Cross drive is March 1. Capt. Alvis is the father of Mrs. M. L. Owens, one of the owners of the Peninsula Press.

In Palos Verdes as elsewhere Red Cross volunteer workers under the guidance of Judge Hemenway will be striving toward the critical necessity of meeting a goal amount almost twice that of last year.

Jorgensen announced simultaneously the Los Angeles chapter's return to a wartime footing and a campaign goal set at $3,600,000 this year.

"I'm going to do my best to see that the new Red Cross slogan, 'For a double need, let's give double,' is realized in Palos Verdes," Captain Alvis said yesterday. "Close experience with the Red Cross in action during wartime has left me fully aware of the indispensable part it plays in times of crisis," he added.

Captain Alvis served in the Pacific throughout World War II as a captain in the Navy. He has been a lifetime Navy man, graduating from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1918 just in time to get a taste of the first world war. His retirement from the Navy came in 1946, after which he became a member of Palos Verdes City Council.

He will be returning to the post he filled last year, when he was also fund chairman for the Palos Verdes Branch of Red Cross.

Jorgensen traced the sharp hike in the 1951 campaign mark specifically to four Red Cross programs now being greatly expanded by the Korean war and the nation's civil defense preparedness effort: Operation of the country's biggest blood service center in Los Angeles; plans for immediate provision of food, clothing and shelter to thousands under the disaster preparedness set-up; wholesale training of the civilian population in "self-help" techniques through first-aid and home care of the sick and injured classes, and service to the armed forces involving emergency financial aid and emergency home-to-battle-front communications for fighting men and their families.

The budget for assistance in this category to service men was exhausted shortly after the beginning of Korean hostilities, Jorgensen pointed out.

Man Gives Life

(Continued from Page One) Mantch, 36, of 666 Molina Ave., Long Beach, and E. W. Pleasant, 27, of 807 W. Anaheim St., Wilmington, had barely pulled the unconscious Hartwig to the surface when they heard Katko sigh and slump into the muck below.

They called for aid from the Torrance Fire Department. Katko finally was brought to the surface by a Torrance fireman, George Blahnik of 2714 Andree Ave., Torrance, who descended into the sewer wearing a gas mask.

The revival effort was slowed because the Torrance department's inhalator can only be used on one person at a time. Another was brought to the scene by county firemen and lifeguards.

Katko, with the sanitation department for 3 1/2 years, was pronounced dead by a physician about 12:30 p.m. His body was taken to the Stone & Myers Mortuary in Torrance and was sent to his mother, Mrs. Victoria Katko in Cleveland, Ohio.

Hartwig is the father of three children.

Alondra Park

(Continued from Page One) portion of the park for either a court or courts structure, if it is deemed advisable under the reorganization of the inferior courts by January 1, 1952. Darby stated that the County will not be obligated under such legislation, but is seeking it to forestall any future court space shortage.

Jurists and civic leaders from this area have conducted several meetings in Gardena to discuss the reorganization's effect in this area. No specific locations have been recommended, however. A new court building has been authorized for construction in Redondo Beach.

Wage Raise

Ten dollars per month raises were given to all departments except the water department superintendent and department heads of the Police, Fire, Street and Park, and Bus departments. The raise will be effective from January 16 until July 1, when a survey and reclassification of all departments will be made.

She is the widow of Benjamin W. Weston, prominent local rancher and property owner, a pioneer and the son of a pioneer family of Lomita.

Local Merchants Donate Toward Burned-out Family

Neighbors and friends of the Kimmett family, burned out of their home at 1715 W. 234th St., Torrance, last week, got out and collected enough money to pay a month's rent, $25 in groceries, and many articles of clothing, from more than 60 generous Torrance merchants.

A representative of the group said that many of the merchants promised to donate more toward the family if the need arises.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Kimmett, suffered the ruin of much of the interior of their home as well as most of their wardrobe, when a fire struck their residence Jan. 15. This was one of a series of bad luck strokes in a short period of time suffered by the family.

The Board of Supervisors, Tuesday, approved a Student Training Program at Harbor General Hospital, similar to that at the General Hospital, to help ease the acute shortage of graduate nurses.

Supervisor Raymond W. Darby revealed that fifteen trainee positions had been borrowed from the General Hospital to allow for the training of students at Harbor Hospital.

Hihg School Concert

"The first part of the program will be the band concert. The second half of the show will be the depiction of different phases and backgrounds of American music from the birth of jazz to symphony jazz," explained Dunn. He continued, "This second half of the program is something in a lighter musical vein and rather new in musical production. Five periods in the history of jazz will be depicted."

Student chairmen of the five periods of jazz history are: Ina Babbick, the Blues; Ann Olson, Dixieland; Pat Dunmyer, New York and Chicago jazz influences; Leonard Reir, Swing; and Ross Sciarotta, Symphonic jazz. The instrumental department of the high school band will play various examples of the type of music being depicted. Students of the Modern American Music class at the high school are writing the script and preparing the sets.

Those especially in charge of setting are Frank Reid, Emmett DeBennett, Jerry Brown, Bob Such and Bob Fenwick.

Tickets for the show will be 50 cents each, according to Ross Sciarotta, student director of the band.

Local Tribunal

Judge J. Shidler, Torrance, Judge Collamer A. Bridge, Hermosa Beach, Judge Otto E. Willett, Torrance, Judge George W. Saunders, Hawthorne, Judge Bernard Lawher, Centinela, Judge D. C. Higgins, Manhattan Beach, and Judge E. L. Morris, Gardena, are those who signed the letter to Darby favoring the single court with headquarters at Alondra Park, adjacent to El Camino College on the borders of North Torrance.

In agreeing upon this recommendation the judges said they were motivated by the following considerations:

"1. Alondra Park is not within any one of the eight incorporated cities within the Township but yet is central and close to all.

"2. It is believed that a judicial district of between two hundred to two hundred and seventy-five thousand with five divisions is ideal for an efficient and economic administration of justice and it is believed, although we certainly are in no position to speak authoritatively, that such a district would meet with the approval of the Judicial Council.

"3. We are informed that adequate land is already owned by the County and could with a minimum of effort be made available for the Court use in Alondra Park.

"4. One central judicial center would eliminate confusion on the part of litigants; witnesses, attorneys and law enforcement agencies throughout the area.

"5. We believe that such a center would be well received by substantially all of the cities and communities within the two townships.

"6. The problem of transporting and detaining prisoners in criminal matters would be simplified.

"7. No one of the incorporated cities or communities would feel that it is being discriminated against," the letter continued.

"The Judges recognize that the Board of Supervisors feel that the Municipal Court in the City of Inglewood should have a larger area and that it does present a problem. However, we are convinced that the people of both Centinela Township and Gardena Township including those residents of the area known as Lennox and Howard are opposed to being absorbed by Inglewood and definitely would prefer to have their own district as above suggested.

"In making this recommendation it is felt that a minimum of five divisions should be assured. If such a district is formed the population would warrant existence of five divisions. The present population of the Town-

Both were taken to the Torrance Memorial Hospital. Dr. Smiley was operated on Friday morning by Dr. C. E. Easley for a broken knee and elbow. He also suffered a concussion, four broken ribs, contusions and lacerations of the face.

Farnagian suffered a concussion, broken ribs, and cuts on the head.

Placed in the same room at the hospital, both are reported doing better.

ships has been variously estimated at from 230,000 to 275,000 and it is, of course, a recognized fact that the area is growing at a rapid rate. Furthermore, existing courts within the area would cease to exist. Furthermore when the new Courts are established the present potential reservoir of relief judges for other Courts will disappear and it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to obtain judges from other courts to relieve for vacations, illnesses, etc. Furthermore judging from the record in the past, even if the case load at the outset did not justify the existence of five divisions, the Superior Court and the Municipal Court of the City of Los Angeles by assignments of the Judicial Council might well use the services of any judge from the new district.

"We sincerely believe that the creation of a judicial district as hereinbefore recommended will tend toward harmony among all the peoples of this area and for an effective and efficient administration of justice and your earnest consideration of this recommendation is urged."
